IV. Management of the Association

A. The Officers of the Association shall be:

1. The Immediate Past President, whose term of office shall normally be one year, coinciding with the first year of the President's term.
2. The President, who shall normally be elected by the general membership originally into the position of Vice President and whose term of office shall be two years, ending at the close of the annual summer Executive Council meeting or (in the event no Executive Council meeting is held in the summer) on August 1st of his or her final year in office. Following the expiration of his or her last term, he or she shall succeed to the position of Immediate Past President. The President, as the chief executive officer of the Association, shall:
 - a. Preside at the General Business Meetings of the Association and of the Executive Council;
 - b. Be a member or ex-officio member of all committees of the Association (or designate the Vice President to fill that role).
3. The Vice President/President-Elect, who shall be elected by the general membership, and whose term of office shall normally be two years, ending at the close of the annual summer Executive Council meeting or (in the event no Executive Council meeting is held in the summer) on August 1st of his or her final year in office. Following the expiration of her or his term, the Vice President shall succeed to the position of President. The Vice President shall perform those of the President's duties as shall, from time to time, be delegated to her or him by the President.
4. The Executive Secretariat consisting of one or more Executive Secretaries, who shall be responsible for the day-to-day administration of the Association. He, she, or they shall be appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the Executive Council. It shall be the responsibility of the Executive Secretariat to carry out policies established by the Executive Council and perform such duties as are assigned by it.

B. The Executive Council

1. The affairs and business of the Association shall be managed and controlled, subject to the provisions of the Bylaws, by an Executive Council consisting of:
 - A. The Immediate Past President, the President, and the Vice President, ex officiiis; these officers shall be with vote.
 - B. The Executive Secretary, the Communications Officer, and the Treasurer, ex officiiis; these officers shall be with vote.

- C. Twelve Members at large shall serve terms of four years, with one quarter of their number retiring each year, at the close of the annual summer Executive Council meeting, or (in the event no Executive Council meeting is held in the summer) on August 1st. Members at large shall be eligible for immediate re-election.

[Bylaws]

III. Vacancies

3. If the position of President becomes vacant, the Vice President shall assume the office and responsibilities of the President. Following the expiration of the original term, the new President shall stay on for another full term as originally intended.
4. If the position of Vice President becomes vacant, an interim Vice President shall be elected by the Executive Council from among its ranks. At the next election cycle, a new Vice President shall be elected.
5. The President and Vice President are charged with organizing the process to appoint or re-appoint other officers of the organization (with final approval by the Executive Council).
